Acreage assessment up; road crew gets pay hike

Three pay hikes for the county road forces were unanimously approved by the board of supervisors at its annual reorganization session Monday during which all appointive employees were named for another year in their present positions.

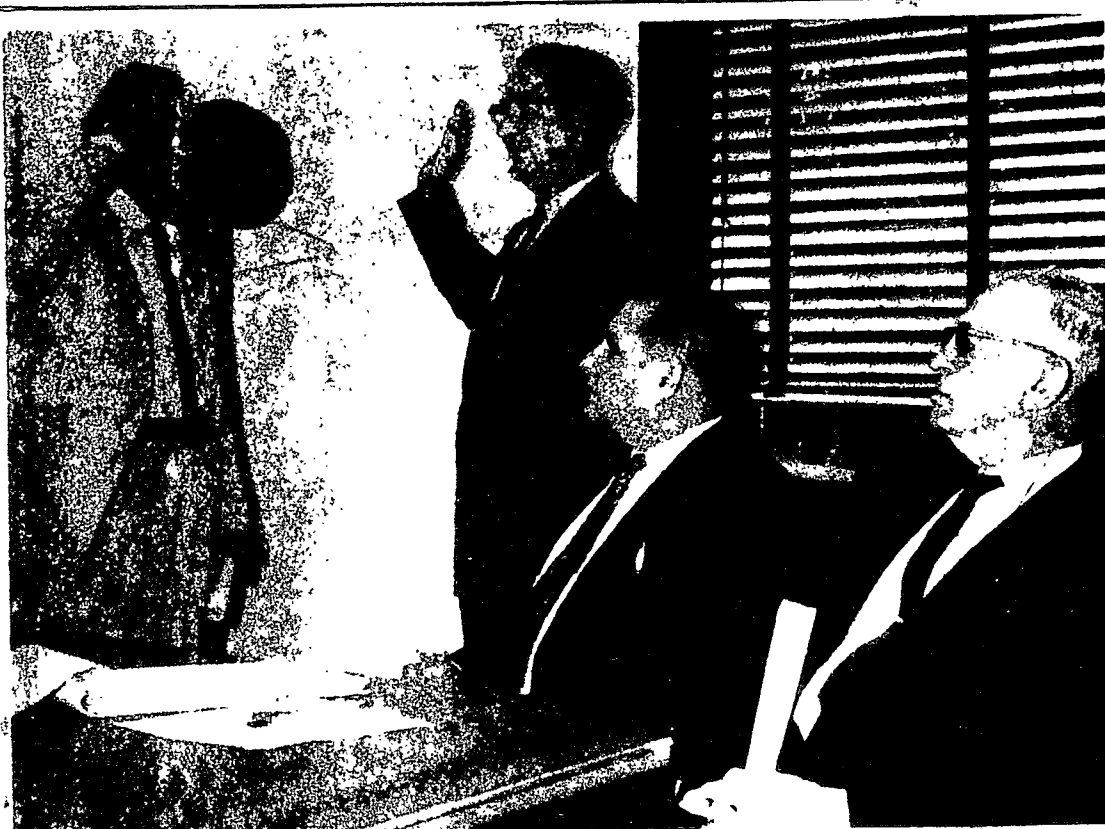

The increases, all authored by the board's newest member, H. G. Dean of Beat 1, were from $1.50 to $2 an hour for the two bulldozer operators; grader men from $9 a day average on a monthly basis to $12 on working days only, and labor, from $7 to $8, James Neacase seconded the first and third, I. M. Frierson the second. Neacase, however, said he doubted if his budget would permit him to put the rates into effect.

Dean also sought centralization of the seawall maintenance force under one man answerable to the board but while gaining support on some aspects he was unsuccessful in the long run.

Long dissenting vote on annual appointments was cast by Dean when Cornelius J. Lader was nominated for another term as veterans service officer at $112.50 a month. A request that the veterans service staff be expanded by one man was heard from Wilton Lader but President R. G. Hubbard, Jr., explained the tight financial situation.

Other re-appointments were Lucien Cox, attorney; Mrs. Yvonne C. Fricke, county home manager; deputy tax assessor, Mrs. Claire Mitchell, $225 with Mrs. George Anderson, part-time clerk at $150; Courthouse janitor, Roland LaFontaine, $190; commodity clerk, Frank Klein, $190; county agent, O. S. Swartz, $225; assistant county agent, John W. Smith, $175; clerk at agricultural center, Mrs. Ethel Lader Favre, $125; county engineer, Arthur McArthur, $100 plus travel expenses; assistant

NEW SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER - Lamar J. Lee, left, is sworn in as new member of the county board of education from Beat 2 at Monday's annual organizational meeting of board. Administering oath is Chancery Clerk Claiborne Lader. Looking on are Charles B. Murphy, right, who commences new four year term at Beat 1 member, and County Superintendent K. G. McCarty.

By a 3-2 vote after an extended discussion, the board of supervisors voted Monday to increase the assessment of all land in acreage not on a highway to $10 an acre.

Taxation on the new basis will start next year as the supervisors endeavor to revise revenue sources to cope with the loss of better than one-third of county's land to Uncle Sam's lunar landing static test site.

Motion to hike the assessment on acreage came from Beat 1 Supervisor H. G. Dean, seconded by I. M. Frierson of Beat 2. Joining them in voting for the measure was R. G. Hubbard, Jr., of Beat 5, board president.

Expressing strenuous opposition to taking such a step in an election year were James D. Neacase of Beat 4 and Charles Lavinghouse of Beat 3. Lavinghouse observed it was one thing to tax extensive property holders in the county like Crosby Forest Products and International Paper Co. but something else where the average man was involved.

For several years the basis of assessing wild or timber land was $6 an acre and $3.50 an acre for tidelands or marshes. Both these will now be $10. Land bordering U. S. 90 remains at $10 an acre and that on other highways at $10.

Assessment of all land rolls is subject to approval by the State Tax Commission.

Need for such action has been suggested for several months by County Tax Assessor George Heitzmann but he was not in the board room when the matter came up and was absent Monday.

Opening and accepting of bids on various supplies for the year occupied the bulk of the meeting which continued until late afternoon.

W. A. McDonald and Sons offered the successful price of $3,538.50 each on two two-ton International gravel trucks with dump bodies, a total of $7,077. Pearson Motors of Picayune bid $7,178 on two Fords.

Other bids approved were from Riemann's Fahey-Whitfield Funeral Home, $125 on paper funerals, lone bidder; Hancock Bank, lone bid on county depository; Joseph Cuevas of Rt. 1, Pass Christian and H. E. Wilson of Long Beach; clay gravel; Bay Materials, clam shell; Earl Garcia, concrete sand and clay soil, dirt fill, reef shells; Bill Morreale, concrete sand and clay soil; American Sand and Gravel Co., state aid specification road materials; Gulf Paving, Inc., pit gravel; Cue Oil, gas, oil, grease, etc.; Myles Holcomb Co. and Gulf Asphalt, hot mix; Holcomb, cold mix; Bitumex, Southland, Brookhaven, American Bitumuls, Glove Asphalt, asphalt; and Mississippi Aggregate Co., slag.

Action on other bids was tabled until next Monday.

State loan OK'd for North Central

A $39,294 loan toward construction of a six-room addition at Hancock North Central School has been approved by the State Education Finance Commission, the county board of education was informed Monday.

County Superintendent K. G. McCarty reported the application had been granted at a special meeting of the state body Dec. 11 and plans were made to proceed with final plans and specifications for the project at a meeting this afternoon when Dalton B. Shourds, architect, will be invited to appear. McCarty said he hopes building can begin in May so the addition will be ready for next fall in view of anticipated enrollment growth.

Shourds also was authorized to make the necessary architectural study of the leaking roof at North Central as the board pushed efforts to seek legal relief from the problem which has plagued it ever since the school was opened in the fall of 1959.

Walker J. Phillips, attorney for the board, said he had been unable to have a check made on the roof by Fred Wagner, local architect, when the roofing manufacturer's representative could be present. Wagner, he said, felt that Shourds, being architect for the addition, should handle the job while he thought it was up to Charles Pruetter, original architect for the school, but efforts to secure his assistance had been to no avail. The lawyer explained the legal procedure involved in case suit has to be filed to finally get the matter fixed and was urged by the board to proceed with utmost speed.

Bay revises loan bid on sewer work

Bay St. Louis' application for federal aid on its water and sewerage project is being revised to submission, perhaps next week, to the Community Facilities Administration regional office in Atlanta.

W. E. Johnson of Jackson, engineer for the job, conferred with City Commission Council Monday on revisions to meet certain requirements for accelerated public works program funds.

Mayor John A. Scaife and Johnson, who went to Atlanta just before Christmas to submit the application, discovered at that time their proposals to not conform with certain time elements of the CFA and brought it back to revise before submitting it.

Until the city learns whether it can get the federal grant for the sewerage and water project, no major street improvements are contemplated, Mayor Scaife said this week. Noting that several inquiries had been received on plans for this year, the mayor observed it would be short-sighted to commence heavy street work only to have to tear up improvements to lay new mains.

Kennedy and Bosworth firm

Waveland rhubarb

A verbal fracas was the high point at Waveland Town Council's meeting Tuesday night during which Mayor Garfield Lader threatened to have the two major participants, Enoch L. Kennedy, town engineer, and Carroll E. Glindmeyer, representative of Bosworth Construction Co., ejected from the meeting.

After things settled down council authorized payment of $3,931.25 for labor on sub-drainage work along St. Joseph Street to the Bosworth firm and $2,348.05 jointly to the construction firm and the suppliers of materials for the project.

The confused situation was the result of verbal authorization to Kennedy to perform the work under the contract with Bosworth, which is doing the work on roads in Waveland authorized by the bond issue of last year. Glindmeyer, for Bosworth, denied that Kennedy was a sub-contractor for Bosworth, but presented a bill for the labor which he said had been paid by Bosworth.

In another aspect of the problem, the question was raised as to the propriety of Kennedy as town engineer acting as a contractor in any capacity.

At council's regular meeting last week Glindmeyer had submitted the bill for labor which he said he had paid at Kennedy's request and a bill under Kennedy's signature, respectively from the construction corporation, was considered, but since

GARDEN OF MONTH

The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Steinsayer, 123 Nicholson Ave., has been selected by Bay-Waveland Garden Club as January garden of the month. Mabel Harold Hicks and Walter Hava are members of the selection committee.

Kennedy was not present at the action was taken then.

At last week's session no action except approval of minutes and bills was taken as well as authorizing three building permits totaling $14,500, two to Gulf States Corp. for houses on Farrar Street and one for a garage in Waveland Park to D. Jurintano.

Alderman John Long did bring up the question of investing the town's funds, pointing out the municipality's auditor, Isaac and Powell of Biloxi, had stated in their report that about $80,000 was available for that purpose. After discussion, including the reading by Attorney Dan M. Russell, Jr., of the state statute on the subject, no decision was reached, but the implication was that the town would invest a considerable amount after the details of doing so legally were resolved.

Teens will parade the way and street collections, sell balloons and conduct other fund raising activities. Already assisting them are Fifi White, Ellen McDonald, Pat Permitt, Henry and Dottie White, Alice Lyall and Don Wilts. Envelopes were addressed by Mrs. Henry Permitt.

BOOTY FROM GEORGIA CAR - Chief Deputy Sheriff Gerald Price, Jr., displays this array of burglary implements, walkie talkie radios and other paraphanelia taken from 1958 Cadillac bearing Atlanta, Ga., tags here last Saturday. Note hypodermic tubes in foreground with bottles of paragonic.

Pawn try traps pair

Never try to pawn a questionable article to a police officer, if you expect to get by with it.

Two men from Atlanta, Ga., both with police records, tried the trick about noon Saturday at Porter's Gulf Service, not suspecting that the attendant was City Policeman Latham Garriga, and within an hour ended up in the county jail on charges of possessing burglary tools and narcotics.

Facing hearing before JP Nollus Rhodes are Walter Henry Godfrey, 43, who has served two years in the penitentiary on a narcotics conviction, and William Harrison Corn, 44, who Atlanta police say spent time for safe breaking. They are expected to be held for the grand jury when it convenes next week.

The pair tried to pawn a hi-fi phonograph at Porter's and Garriga steered them out to U. S. 90, suggesting "one of the places out there might buy it." As the men drove away in their 1958 model cream and turquoise Cadillac sedan, Garriga phoned the sheriff's office from where Deputy Gerard Freeman radioed Chief Deputy Gerald V. Price, Jr.

and Gulfport authorities who alerted their car, at the toll bridge. Price swung by Porter's, picked up Garriga and they found the Georgians at the 66 Service Station at Main and 90 where they had sold the Cadillac for $3 cash and $2 gas.

The car truck yielded two walkie-talkie radios, picks, assorted files, welding glasses, gloves, a 10-pound sledge with a coach chisel welded to the end, along with assorted narcotics. When the men got out of the patrol car at the jail, deputies discovered two narcotic needles on the back seat where they had apparently slipped from coat pockets.

A laboratory analysis in New Orleans show safe clay on the sledge was from a safe but not the one broken in Pascagoula Friday night. However a camera was identified as coming from a Pascagoula drug store and study is being made of two brand new watches the men wore. Pascagoula deputies and Ford O'Neak of the Highway Patrol are assisting with the investigation.

Divers find Western Union safe

The Western Union safe stolen last March from Beach Economy Drug has been recovered from the Tchoutants River at Covington, La., and is now stored at Hancock County jail with the possibility that as many as four persons will face next Monday's grand jury in connection with the theft.

"It was found by skin diver and Deputy Sheriff C. C. Barnes on his first plunge into the water Dec. 30. It was at a depth of 25 feet.

Chief Deputy Gerald V. Price, Jr., said Barnes and Deputy Richard Holmes, also a skin-diver went to Covington after exhaustive investigation since the theft indicated the safe was in the river.

Other articles found in the plunge including a case of dynamite, slot machine and pistol are being checked by Covington authorities.

Three persons were convicted in Federal court in Memphis last summer in the narcotics end of the Beach Drug break-in. Price said a dealer has been placed on Keith Lee, serving five years at Angola for a similar burglary in Louisiana, while warrants are out for three other suspects in the Western Union case.

Tax fairness

Taxes are one of the things that right now rank high in the thoughts of no taxpayers and it is only natural that we along with just about every other taxpayer object to what we consider unfairness in our taxes. Sometimes this objection is to the type of tax, whether sales, income, property or otherwise. When the objection is because of the type of tax, the objection is one of policy from a "soak the rich" to a "bleed the poor" angle.

But when it is the same tax on the same property, income or purchase then we don't have to take theory, we can talk in more concrete terms. Mr. Z owns property worth so much or bought a car worth so much whereas Mr. X paid so much for his house, earned a different amount of money and his car is a tin lizzie. Then is when you can really get righteously angry.

In that field we want to limit ourselves to two illustrations of unfairness although there are others less obvious. The two we have in mind to bring up are ones that might get us hidden out of town for openly pointing out, but we all know they are there.

For illustration, the county assesses property in Bay St. Louis and Waveland at about one-fifth of what it would bring on the market, sometimes more. The county provides nothing in service to such property that it doesn't provide to the most barren property in the county, yet if Mr. Ladner, Necaise or Smith owns a $7,000 house in Waveland it will be assessed at about $1,500 but if International Paper Company owns 70 acres worth the same (the price it got for its holdings in the NASAtest site) it is assessed about $490, less than a third of Mr. Smith, Ladner or Necaise. Obviously and mathematically and, plain to all, not fair.

The other complaint we are making today really steps on toes, but we think properly so. It deals with exemptions from taxes for our religious and educational bodies. Basically there is no reason to exempt them at all, but by tradition and custom and because we want to encourage education and faith we have exempted property devoted to such. We kindly agree with this exemption from taxes without any logical basis but it certainly should be limited to the idea from which it sprang, i. e., property devoted to religious and educational purposes. Now that doesn't include apartment buildings for rent or filling stations. It also doesn't include land left for farrow. Yet some of the most valuable property in the county falls under the latter classification. For instance, the unused property of the Seminary along U. S. 90 benefits no one, including the Seminary, which may be holding it for profit, something they would be much less likely to do if they had to pay the reasonable taxes thereon each year. In this case it amounts to even more of a crime against most of us because if put to its probable use it would then have building placed thereon with an even higher value and all of us would pay less taxes.

To point up this problem in an exaggerated way, suppose all of this county was owned by NASA, International Paper Company (between them they own about two-thirds) and our various churches. Who would pay George Heitzmann, Manay Hubbard, Claiborne Ladner, the school board and the rest of the Courthouse gang, not to mention the teachers or those who build the roads.

Think about it and think about the disparity.

P.S. Since this was initially written, the board of supervisors has increased the per acre millage from 6 to 10 for unimproved property. This is a move in the right direction, yet still does not actually equalize the tax burden in the county - but it is a damn big step forward.

County Reapportionment

Two sessions of the Mississippi Legislature have struggled to pass a reapportionment bill. If not exact, you can readily see that the bill it is hoped will be approved by above leaves Beats 1 and 2 to divide the remainder, or 88 percent, of the population and assessed valuation between them.

While we have been concerned about reapportionment for the state legislature we have overlooked as unequal an apportionment of territory for the election of supervisors in Harrison County. Milton T. county, has a whopping 60 percent of the population, president of Gulfport Chamber of voting strength of the Board of Supervisors, has pointed out this unequal representation in a message to the members of the organization. President Evans visors have complete authority over the placing of jurors' names in the boxes to be drawn for both grand jury and petit jury duty. Need I point out what the misuse of this authority could do to a county?

"All of you have followed with interest the recent reapportionment measures introduced in the Legislature. This is a fine relief from the most serious local level where we are even more vitally affected? What are you going to do about it?"

President Evans brings out some pertinent points in his letter and it is something that every citizen should be considering by the citizens of the county. The bigger city beats have no say and what they desire to dominate the Board of Supervisors, but on the other hand the smaller country beats should not have the control over the operation of the county.

This is a matter that needs serious consideration by the citizens of the county should have a larger voice in the operation of the county.

Oxford again

There are many aspects to the latest development at Oxford, at least two of which are worthy of comment.

Quitter

James Meredith was the paid tool, or so the NAACP insists, to prove a point however mistaken. From the beginning he was never interested in education per se, in fact turned down the offer of an expense-free opportunity at the University of Michigan, certainly a school that ranks educationally as well as the University of Mississippi. So it seems to us that it is easy and right to dismiss any of Meredith's complaints about the "study climate". He chose for mental and venal reasons the "study climate" he objects to.

Meredith is not only a quitter but a chinning one.

Tool

Young brother Mr. Robert F. Kennedy, has played his part. He hasn't whined that he was suborning his character at big brother's request. He's just gone ahead and done it, but his olip keeps showing and the latest Oxford incident makes it plain for all to see. That his most recent pronouncement may merely be a continuation of his attempt to make a hero of Gov. Ross Barnett is beside the point.

The point is that he uses his political office and his brother's to castigate others when he knows his statements are untrue. This time he charges University of Mississippi officials, according to the Associated Press, as follows:

"It is one that a number of officials charged with the administration of the university have not met their responsibilities."

"It is incumbent upon them and state law enforcement officials to make it possible for Mr. Meredith to continue his education without interruption."

Now Baby Bobby has had marshals and military personnel right on top of these same university officials around the clock during the entire period, has never made this complaint until the QUITTER quit, and even now doesn't specify what responsibilities have not been met.

Need we say more?

What both brothers under the skin, Kennedy and Meredith, have proved in their separate ways is that the objection to Meredith being admitted to Ole Miss had more than a little merit. After all, supreme court or not, no one has a responsibility to like the smell of another's armpit.

Blaze destroys Winn-Dixie truck

Fire of undetermined origin blazed for almost six hours in the trailer of a Winn-Dixie Food Stores truck trailer on U. S. 90 about six miles west of Bay St. Louis Saturday morning.

The blaze, noted by Deputy Sheriff Gerald Favre, was first reported to the Waveland volunteer fire department who answered the call. In the meantime, the Negro driver of the truck returned to the scene in the cab which he had released from the trailer in order to find a phone and notify Winn-Dixie warehouse. He stated that he had stopped the truck at about 4 a.m. and had been asleep until he discovered the fire.

Favre called the Bay St. Louis Fire Department when it became apparent that the Waveland had exhausted its water supply.

The appointment cleared unanimously but before recording the vote, Superintendent McCarty inquired if Phillips intended to run for political office this year. The attorney said he did not yet know his intentions and McCarty admonished him, "If you do you'll just have to give up this job while you're running. I'm not going to have it."

At the onset for the session, Lamar J. Lee was sworn in as new Beat 3 trustee, succeeding Alton D. Keller who was not eligible for re-election since he lives in the area now served by the Piquette Municipal Separate School District. G. B. Murphy of Beat 1 was re-elected president. Powell, vice president with Mrs. Estelle Depree re-appointed clerk and bookkeeper and Betty Ruhr, secretary, at present salaries of the latter two. Salary of the superintendent was fixed the same as last year.

Murphy reported on paper served on him as board president and Lawrence N. Breland in a suit by Albert Miller seeking to confirm title of the old Amer Line School property. Powell recalled that the school ceased to exist about 1921 and the Amer Baptist Church disbanded about 15 years ago. The attorney discussed procedure with the board.

Penton reported on plans to install a baseball diamond at North Central and was authorized to let the coaches select the best possible site. McCarty suggested he ask Supervisor James D. Nease's assistance in grading the area. The Hancock North Central head was commended for his performance since taking over his duties and he in turn paid tribute to his student body. He cited reaction to his requirement that boys' ball teams wear ties and jackets in traveling to games and that the girls wear dresses, observing that such apparel is becoming more prevalent among spectators at home games. His efforts in this direction were particularly applauded.

Next session is scheduled for 2 p.m., today.

City revises ... He added that he hopes the sewer job future can be determined within 30 days or so. In the meantime, regular maintenance and elimination of hazards is continuing on city streets.

Capt. William Fortune of the Mississippi Test Facility and Marion Kent of the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville met Saturday with Scaife to offer what help they could to the city and county on problems of education, public facilities and related fields evolving from the NASA project at Gainesville. They expressed concern that the communities were not doing much to prepare for the impact when construction workers start moving in. The mayor outlined the city's progress toward enacting comprehensive zoning and ordinances already adopted on sub-divisions and trailer parks.

Rocks, VanCleave collide in tourney

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws met VanCleave last night in first-round Harrison Central Tournament action, hoping to improve on a 3-6 record and make up for two losses last week.

The Rocks lost a 55-35 decision to Piquette of the Big Eight Conference in Piquette Tuesday night, trailing all the way. The Tide held quarter advantages of 12-6, 26-14, and 39-21.

Moore Scaffidi led the locals with 11 points as no other Rockchaws touched double figures. Sacred Heart of Hattiesburg took over the lead in the Mississippi Catholic Conference with a 60-49 triumph over Brother Ralph's Rockchaws Sunday. Waymon Carr scored 12 points.

N. Central St. Martin split pair

North Central boys' basketball team defeated St. Martin's 56-45 at North Central Tuesday night. Eddie Peterson, Richard Cuevas and Berlin Ladner tied with 15 points each for high scores; T. O. Morris tallied 12 points for St. Martin's.

Faye Myers' 16 points led St. Martin's girls to a 30-17 win over the Hawkettes. Brenda Stockstill was high for North Central with 10.

Teen Times

The holidays have, as all good things must, come to a screeching halt. It's back to books once again—but don't worry—there is lots yet to come as Carnival is just around the corner with its balls, parades and of course king cake parties. But we've still much Christmas and New Year's news to pass on before we think about anything else.

Think just about everyone enjoyed the gayest season around these parts in many a year. There were the usual open houses and Christmas dances here and there in addition to the New Year fetes, Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center draws larger and larger crowds—the younger set celebrated Saturday night at a dance with live band, refreshments and the like.

Let's check up on that local boys and girls found under their Christmas trees. Aggie Bourgeois and Harry Shattuck were among those lucky enough to receive stereos of their very own. A number of the girls including Ellen Colson, Louise Buitin, Carolyn Damians asked for and got mostly new clothes; local members of International Order of Werewolves were presented with tiny sterling werewolf charms especially cast for them; Beth Colson is enjoying her new basketball goal; Ray Kidd is proudly displaying a fluffy cigarette lighter—his gift from pretty blonde Jackie Kingston; Sharon Piazza now has her own hair dryer; Gaudier Mayfield is practicing on his electric guitar; Jo Ann and Pam Smith are sporting wigs; Kenny Develle's sweater collection was enlarged. . .

Steve Church received a watch, hunting dog, suit, shoes, etc. . . Gary Noto also received a new watch, suit and other articles of clothing; Bob Whitefield is enjoying his transistor radio and Leslie Blatz is sporting a number of new outfits. Ripple Rausch got contacts and a mink wrap.

More Christmas gifts: Carol Soone has a Brownie Fiesta flash camera, Jane Walker has her own movie camera, Sally Scharf, a shiny new watch, Alexis Romanoff, a transistor radio and John Shattuck his personal bowling ball and a case of mumpsi.

Congratulations are in order for Leslie Sue Webb—she made the dean's list at Southern.

We also hear popular Bay High teacher, Mrs. Merle Little, found that St. Nick had generously sprinkled her lawn with tiny containers of catnip. . . each lavishly gift wrapped.

A number of those in service returned home for the holidays. . . Ellen Allison who is a platoon leader at Wave hospital corps school at Great Lakes Training Station, is enjoying her leave; Ralph Crowe is here on a brief respite from Army boot camp; Lennie Schultz also arrived in time for Christmas.

Bob Hamilton gave local girls a thrill appearing in church last Sunday resplendent in his Annapolis dress uniform.

Danny Henry and Michael Lee left last Thursday to have their Navy physicals in Jackson, Miss. Johnny Kramer is another who has chosen to enter the Navy. Miss Kay Erwin and Paula Crider returned to Southern last Saturday to practice for Sugar Bowl halftime activity.

Sue and Chuck Breath had a fabulous vacation spending the holidays in California.

Ole Miss enrolls first Catholic nun

Wearing the white collared black habit of her order, Sister M. Panchita Wesley creates a startling contrast with the collegially dressed University of Mississippi students walking to class beside her.

A School Sister of Notre Dame, Sister Panchita is the first Catholic nun in the 114-year history of Ole Miss to be enrolled as a full-time student in the doctoral program. She is beginning the program in the field of educational administration.

Unhesitant in expressing her impressions of Ole Miss, Sister Panchita said, "The students at Ole Miss have been most gracious in their acceptance of me. They typify, I think, the ideal Southern ladies and gentlemen."

Equally approving of Sister Panchita, several students planning to become teachers have asked her views on education and teaching.

The tiny nun, who has devoted her life to education, always begins, "Teaching is a continuous challenge. Every day brings something new and stimulating."

Sister Panchita feels that no one, despite the amount of extensive education he has had, should teach unless he is endowed with "understanding and a heart."

"For example," she said, "a problem child will not be a problem if he knows he is loved. Love is the key."

Sister Panchita's dealings with faculty members and administrators have established a relationship of mutual admiration.

"The University faculty members appear to have an unusually enriched background," the sister said. "But, even more important, they seem to have the ability to give to their students the opportunity of profiting from their educational treasury."

On the other hand, Dr. Sylvester A. Moorhead, dean of the Ole Miss School of Education, expressed the pleasure he and his colleagues derive from her candidacy for a doctorate degree.

"We have very few women who enter our advanced graduate program and, of course, Sister Panchita is the only nun we have ever had in the program."

Sister Panchita, who spends a great deal of time in the library, recalls an incident there which almost led to an encounter with the campus police.

"It's not as bad as it sounds," she laughed. "While studying in the library, I left my umbrella.

When I returned for it a few days later, I was told it had been lost. I was told it had been found by the campus police."

As Sister Panchita, a library to find her umbrella, the students working in the library stopped her.

"He had been carrying an umbrella around with him two or three days so it would be 'confiscated,'" she said earnestly, "that this is indicative of an attitude which seems inherent in the students here."

Before coming to Ole Miss, Sister Panchita taught at St. Mary of the Pines in New Orleans. She has attended Holy College, Northwestern University, Loyola of the South, Loyola University and Catholic University in Washington, D. C.

GOLDEN EGGS

Private enterprise is the goose that lays our golden eggs. This American System of capitalism has done more for more people than any other political economy, past or present.

Even Khrushchev, in announcing a major shake-up within the Soviet Union, confessed the shortcomings of Communism, and suggested it might be necessary to adopt a little Capitalism with its profit incentives.

American Capitalism is the envy of the whole world, not only for what it does but for what it stands. It feeds and finances not only its own, but millions of less fortunate everywhere.

Envious foreign foes smear Capitalism as imperialism — even non-believers here at home call it ugly names. But capitalism has given our people the highest standard of living known to mankind, and has cultivated in our nation a moral fiber and determined spirit that have helped to make us the symbol of a free world.

Harry hears ... Cincy, Loyola top cage polls

Cincinnati and Loyola of Chicago, two entirely different types of basketball squads, continue to lead the collegiate basketball rating polls. Southern basketball, especially the Southeastern Conference where basketball once was of an excellent standard, is taking a back seat to Mid-western hoopers.

Cincinnati, the defending national champions, is trying to do what no team has ever accomplished—win the NCAA title three years in succession. Oddly enough this season is the first time the Bearcats have ever been rated the favorite. Ohio State, again boasting a good team, was the top choice and an almost unanimous favorite in 1960-61 and 1961-62. The Bearcats play a control game and win most of their games with a rugged defense. Despite reeling off nearly 30 wins in a row, Cincy has seldom scored over 80 points in a game.

Loyola, on the other hand, plays a run-and-shoot crowd-pleasing game, and has very little set defense. The Ramblers are averaging 100 points a game, but their opponents are scoring at a high clip and we look for Loyola to lose one pretty soon.

In the SEC, Mississippi State proved its superiority over Auburn in Auburn Saturday night, easily defeating the Plainsmen and handing them their first defeat of the season. It was the first conference game for both squads as all of Auburn's triumphs were non-league affairs.

Kentucky surprised us! We predicted last week that the Wildcats along with Mississippi State would, despite their mediocre early records, be the top challengers for the SEC crown. The Maroons came through in fine fashion but Kentucky dropped a double overtime decision to Georgia Tech, only undefeated team left in the SEC. Cotton Nash has ridden the bench for parts of the Wildcats last few games, but we're still of the opinion that All-American Nash and his teammates will come around.

Pro hoop loop folds
We've never thought much of the basketball expansion plan and weren't surprised when the American Basketball League called it quits last week because of financial difficulties. Another major football league was needed, and there is little doubt that the American League will be a success. Adding two new baseball teams to each major league was another fairly good idea. But there just isn't enough real basketball talent and there's not enough interest for a second pro loop.

As far as we are concerned the surviving league, the National Basketball Assn., is in grave trouble. Right now the league is a success, but within ten years unless changes are made the NBA will lose its high standing.

There are several reasons for our belief on this subject, one being the complete domination by the Boston Celtics. The Celtics seem to win the championship every season, and despite what many Los Angeles Lakers fans think, Boston is still far the best in the NBA. Some may point to major league baseball to argue that statement, knowing that the Yankees are almost shoe-ins each season. However, pro baseball has another league to fall back on, a league in which everybody seems to win eventually. There is no other league in basketball with the ABL's departure and there probably isn't going to be another league!

Let's bring back the little man

The underlying cause, though, in the big men in basketball. No, it isn't Wilk Chamberlain's fault, not directly. But at the rate things are going, pro basketball guards are going to be six feet-six or six feet-eight. Now, what really is the fun of seeing ten men take turns shoving a ball down into a hoop?

Scientists know that the human race is growing taller. In today's age, tall people are almost always basketball players—they have little choice. And those tall boys are being taught to shoot, to dribble, to pass, to think on a court, to set up plays, to play defense. Why shouldn't they? The object of a basketball game is to win, and a 6-10 boy who can do all these things is much more valuable than a 5-10 boy who can do them a little better.

What solutions are there? We offer several. The NBA will probably never adopt them because there are drawbacks to both. But they're a start toward making basketball a game in which everyone at least has a chance. After all, a sport is a game of enjoyment at which supposedly everybody can have fun.

First, the NBA could adopt a rule enforced by the ABL—that of giving three points to goals made from a set distance, meaning that a 25-foot set shot is more valuable to a team than a dunker. Or the league could forget the 24-second rule which would call for more possession ball and need of better ball-handlers, usually the little men.

A more drastic rule could be this: make a league rule that no guard can be over 6-0 and no forward larger than 6-5. Let the errors of the various teams be no larger as possible, though, leaving the big men in the picture. We've got nothing against tall men—they're as nice as anybody—but even an intelligent seven-footer who sits down and thinks for ten minutes can realize that too many giants will spoil the act.

Let's bring back the little man!

Side bars

So you think football season is over? Wrong, but not quite. Two more major games remain, the AFL All-Star game and NFL Pro Bowl All-Star contest. The former can be viewed nationally over ABC (Channels 3, 12, and 13) at 1 p.m. Sunday, and the latter at 3 p.m. the same day over NBC (Channel 6). We'll pick the West in both.

Several new sporting events on television begin this week. Challenge Golf, featuring Gary Player and Arnold Palmer as a team against the best of the rest, to be televised every Saturday and Sunday afternoon by ABC goes into the act with its Sunday Sports Spectacular, and along with ABC's Wide World of Sports and NBC's new Sports International, offers weekly 90-minute sports entertainment.

Hawks smother Grayhounds

Hancock North Central ran to a big first quarter lead en route to an easy 69-48 triumph over Ocean Springs Friday night. Richard Cuevas scored 23 points to lead the Hawks past the Grayhounds, and Lionel Hoda followed with 20. Berlin Ladner hit in double figures with 11. The Hawk JV won in impressive fashion as Paul Cuevas and Wendell Ladner each scored 15
